India@75 Summit: The Context

As India navigates the global pandemic, it is important for different stakeholder groups to align with national priorities and strengthen the efforts of the government in the direction. The clarion call sounded by the current dispensation is that of self-reliant growth. The path to self-reliance calls for a concerted effort on the part of different stakeholders. In this context, India@75 Summit – Mission 2022, a digital event organized by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and India@75 Foundation, brought together several eminent voices to discuss how collaborations could propel India on the path to a self-reliant growth.

Apart from serving the spirit of collaboration that underlines the India@75 movement, the summit also served to bring to strengthen the historic connect between CII and give the public India@75 conversation a shot in the arm. The Summit was held on the 8th of August, the birth anniversary of Late Prof CK Prahalad, the architect of the India@75 vision. Panelists and moderators included Union Ministers, Chief Ministers senior bureaucrats, academia, business heads and achievers from different walks of life.

A follow up panel discussion is being planned for the 15th of August 2020. It will be held in partnership with India Today TV and anchored by Rahul Kanwal. The discussion will analyze the PM's speech and seek to draw out the national priorities that stakeholders can collaboratively contribute towards.

Media Coverage: The Strategy

While the summit was publicized through sponsored as well as organic social media posts, a PR agency was on-boarded to take the communication beyond the tactical level. The intent was to establish the connect between CII and its vision for India in its 75th year as well as set the stage for the kind of conversations that the summit was to usher. The PR agency was given the mandate to

- Print op-eds and interview before and after the event
- Ensure coverage through print, online, broadcast and digital broadcast medium

India, China need to reach an equilibrium: Jaishankar

HT Correspondent
@htindia@ht.com

NEW DELHI: India and China can overcome their differences in the long term if they reach "some kind of equilibrium" but achieving this is one of the big challenges faced by the country, external affairs minister S Jaishankar said on Saturday.

Jaishankar made the remarks while participating in an interactive session organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) as part of its "India@75 Summit - Mission 2022" initiative. The event looks ahead at India in its 75th year of independence in 2022 and seeks to bring together stakeholders such as industry and government to work on a vision.

Replying to a question on whether India and China, which are currently engaged in a tense border stand-off, could be friends in the coming decades, Jaishankar said the two countries are neighbours and demographically unique as they are the only ones with populations of more than one billion.

China is the world's second largest economy and India is set to become the third largest, and the period of their difficulties and the period of their "re-emergence in a very strong way in international politics" were not far apart, he said.

"We are seeing the parallel but differential rise of the two countries... To my mind, what it does is it puts a huge premium on reaching some kind of equilibrium or understanding between the two [in the interests of both countries]. How to do that is one of the big challenges that we face," Jaishankar said.

The border stand-off, which emerged in May, has taken India-China relations to a new low. Both countries have mobilised tens of thousands of troops along the Line of Actual Control (LAC), especially in the Ladakh sector, after a brutal clash on June 15 caused the death of 20

Indian soldiers and unspecified Chinese casualties.

Efforts to disengage and de-escalate the tensions have run into problems as the Chinese side hasn't pulled back its troops at several key friction points along the LAC, such as Pangong Lake and Depsang. Jaishankar said he believes the world "has a lot riding on" India and China reaching equilibrium, given the size and impact of both countries.

"It is not an easy question to answer, there are problems [that are] well laid out. Certainly, it's something which I feel is very central to our foreign policy calculations," he said.

He said a good foreign policy is one that addresses national and economic security and advances the country's goals and aspirations in a competitive environment. Such a policy depends on skill and agility to build "capabilities strongly, deeply [and] much faster", he added.

In this regard, Jaishankar held up China as a "remarkable example of our lifetime" and pointed out that India, too, is doing its bit by weighing in on big issues such as climate change and shaping big debates on matters such as terrorism.

Import Duty Hike Will Push Up Domestic Output: Gadkari

New Delhi: India will consider increasing duties on sectors heavily dependent on imports to encourage domestic production, particularly by small industries, Union minister for micro, small and medium enterprises (MSME) Nitin Gadkari said on Saturday.

"You may not like it, but we will have to increase import duties in some places," Gadkari said at the India @75 summit organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry. "Because, unless we meet what China is producing in volume, our costs will not come down. This is why we have to see that we increase the duty and encourage Indian manufacturers. When production happens in bulk, we can naturally make the product competitive."

Gadkari said the Indian industry must identify the products that are being imported and the hindrances in these sectors to improve ease of doing business.

Gadkari exhorts industry to make India self-reliant

A wide network of highways, railways and waterways was bound to bring down logistics cost

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
NEW DELHI, 8 AUGUST

To boost 'self-reliant India' endeavour, Union minister Nitin Gadkari today urged the industry to identify the sectors heavily reliant on imports, particularly from China, and look for substitutes towards indigenous production to make India a super power.

Asserting that a case study is in the offing based on three years of imports and exports, Gadkari said China's 70 per cent of exports pertained to ten sectors that included electrical machinery and equipment accounting for 26.09 per cent of its exports worth $671 billion and machinery including computers grabbing 10.70 per cent of its exports worth $417 billion.

Road transport, highways and MSME minister Gadkari while addressing a CII event "India@75 Summit - Mission 2022" urged the industry to look beyond metropolises and developed cities to lay a network of industries and ventures in rural, far-flung and

He urged CII to identify what was imported in India and how can that be replaced with indigenous production for 'self-reliance' while assuring all government support in this initiative.

CII should identify sectors to boost exports and reduce imports. In some areas we will have to increase import duty to encourage Indian manufacturers

"It pains me that 90 per cent of the focus of industry bodies is on major industries in big cities and metropolises. There is seldom any focus on rural, tribal and remote areas" tribal areas which never grabbed attention.

"It pains me that 90 per cent of the focus of industry bodies is on major industries in big cities and metropolises. There is seldom any focus on rural, tribal and remote areas. There is a need to change it... Advance sector wise planning is the need of the hour to make India a super power," Gadkari said.

"China's 70 per cent of exports are from 10 sectors," Gadkari said and urged CII to identify what was imported in India and how can that be replaced with indigenous production for 'self-reliance' while assuring all government support in this initiative.

He said of the China's exports, apart from machinery and equipment, furniture and related things accounted for exports worth $100 billion, plastics products ($84 billion), vehicles ($74.40 billion) and clothings ($66.80 billion).

"CII should identify sectors to boost exports and reduce imports. In some areas we will have to increase import duty to encourage Indian manufacturers," he said.

Assuring all possible help to the industry for making rural and tribal areas their hub, the minister said a wide network of highways, railways and waterways was bound to bring down logistics cost.

He also said that a host of initiatives including redefining the definition of MSMEs will yield rich dividends.

The minister informed that the government is working on a scheme for inclusion of smallest units under the MSME ambit and providing for their micro-financial requirements.

He also stressed the need for upgradation of technology by industry players and urged them to explore joint ventures to being in foreign low cost capital.

In addition, he urged the industry to come up with the list of obsolete legislations hindering their growth so that steps could be taken to facilitate new ventures besides.

"There is an urgent need to create employment, and focussing on rural, agriculture, tribal and village areas including 115 aspirational districts could be beneficial. The target is to shift about 7-8 per cent of population from over-crowded cities to upcoming smart cities and villages," the minister said.

He exhorted the industry to explore investment opportunities on the sides of proposed 22 new expressways.

He asked the CII to draft a proposal for insurance of highway stretches, saying this will do away the requirement of bank guarantees.

"This will speed up financial closure of road projects and finance raising, facilitating faster project completions," he said.

Synopsis
India's exports contracted for the fourth consecutive month in June with the country reporting a trade surplus after 18 years on declining imports.

Goyal, who is also the railways minister, said that freight trains are running at double the speed of last year at around 46 kmph and business development units across 69 divisions have reached out to move more freight.

New Delhi: Commerce and industry minister Piyush Goyal on Saturday said India's July exports have reached 91% of the level in July 2019, with the last 10 days of the month having seen outbound shipments exceed 95% of the level in the corresponding period last year. Non-oil and non-gems & jewellery exports have grown in July with the growth exceeding 10% in the last ten days of the month compared to the same period last year.

"This is a short term phenomenon which we need to institutionalise," Goyal said at the India@75 Summit organised by the Confederation of Indian Industry.

India's exports contracted for the fourth consecutive month in June with the country reporting a trade surplus after 18 years on declining imports.

Goyal, who is also the railways minister, said that freight trains are running at double the speed of last year at around 46 kmph and business development units across 69 divisions have reached out to move more freight.

"There is surplus capacity in railways and not so much business...Railways have moved 4% more trains in the last 11 days than 2019," he said.

On the issue of Atmanirbhar Bharat, he said India started producing its own Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and ventilators- whose exports have now been allowed-when no country was willing to supply these to India.

India attracts USD 22 billion FDI during COVID-19: Amitabh Kant

12:57 | Last Updated Aug 08, 2020 09:41:10 IST

Summary: Kant said that India had attracted 90 per cent plus of the USD 22 billion foreign direct investment in FDI during the pandemic using the automatic route.

India's FDI regime is the most liberal in the world, and even during the COVID-19 pandemic, the country has attracted over USD 22 billion worth of direct investments, NITI Aayog CEO Amitabh Kant said on Saturday. Kant further said that almost 90 per cent plus of the USD 22 billion foreign direct investment in India during the pandemic came through the automatic route.

"Our FDI regime is the most liberal in the world. We have continued to attract huge amount of investments. During the pandemic itself, India attracted over 22 billion worth of direct investments into India," he said at CII's 'India@75' virtual event.

Kant pointed out that India has jumped up about 79 positions in the World Bank's ease of doing business. "Our hope is that this year we will get into top 50," he said.

The NITI Aayog CEO said that if India wants to transform then it needs a programme like aspirational district programme.

Aspirational districts programme, launched in January 2018, aims to transform 112 districts that have shown relatively lesser progress in key social areas and have emerged as pockets of under-development.

There is no escape from climate change, pandemics and terrorism, That is really globalisation: EAM

ANI | 08 Aug 2020, 09:46 PM IST

New Delhi, Aug 08 (ANI): External Affairs Minister (EAM) S Jaishankar on August 08 addressed at virtual India @75 Summit. He had a discussion over globalisation with other leaders. "Different countries are uncomfortable with excessive dependence abroad. This century was very much a century where globalization was desirable, but we've been saying for 5 yrs or more that countries want to take control of their lives," EAM S Jaishankar said. "Many countries and political thinkers today see merit and value in much great autonomy and much great national capabilities than before. Parts of that also comes out of the sense that globalisation has not been fair, that some countries have benefited more," he further added. He added, "I would ask you to look at a different definition of globalisation, that is global issues from which there is no escape. There is no escape from climate change, pandemics & increasingly, I think, there is no escape from terrorism. That, to me, is really globalisation."

Urge consumers to buy 'Make in India' goods: Piyush Goyal to traders community

Union Minister of Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal also assured them that a National Traders Welfare Board will soon be constituted in the country and invited them to join the Government e-Marketplace (GeM) portal.

ANI • August 10, 2020, 07:41 IST

Piyush Goyal asked traders to fully contribute towards the Aatma Nirbhar Bharat campaign and called upon them to act as the whistleblowers.

New Delhi: Union Minister of Commerce and Industry Piyush Goyal on Sunday asked traders to undertake Customer Awareness campaign to make people buy make in India goods.

He asked traders to fully contribute towards the Aatma Nirbhar Bharat campaign and called upon them to act as the whistleblowers, in exposing traders and businessmen who are hell-bent on importing poor-quality goods from unfriendly countries.

Goyal was speaking to the traders' fraternity on the occasion of the National traders' day through virtual interaction, in which he said that the community stands to benefit a lot from the Aatma Nirbhar Bharat campaign as good quality products made in India will usher in economies of scale, thereby lowering prices, and also making our products competitive in the international markets.

"This will lead to more employment opportunities and prosperity of the people and more purchasing power. The Government has already put restrictions on many imported items, which can be easily produced in the country like agarbatti (incense sticks), sports goods, TV, telephone, tyres etc.," he said and further added that an estimated Rs 10 lakh crore worth of imports can be easily substituted with the indigenously produced goods.

He also assured them that a National Traders Welfare Board will soon be constituted in the country and invited them to join the Government e-Marketplace (GeM) portal.

He also asked the traders to push for the PM's clarion call for "Vocal for Local".

Goyal also lauded the role of traders during the COVID crisis phase and asserted that their contribution had also been recognized by the Prime Minister.
